Homestead COVID-19 Protocols

The CDC has issued new protocols for outside visits at The Homestead.

Outdoor Visitation: Facilities may allow in-person visitation in a designated outdoor visitation space, provided the facility implements all of the following safety, care, and infection prevention and control measures. There must be no new COVID-19 cases that originated within the facility, including those involving residents or staff, within the last 14 days

Measures: • Visits Specifics:

- o Must take place in a designated outdoor space and are dependent upon permissible weather conditions, availability of outdoor space, and sufficient staffing at the facility to meet resident care needs, and the health and well-being of the resident.
- o Visitations must be scheduled in advance for all designated outdoor spaces
- o Facilities may limit the length of any visit, the days on which visits will be permitted, the hours during a day when visits will be permitted, and the number of times during a day or week a resident may be visited.
- o No meals/snacks are permitted during the visit as this would require the removal of the face mask/face covering.
- o Facilities will post signage or provide a handout for visitors on signs and symptoms associated with COVID-19.
- o Prior to the visit the facility will provide the visitor instructions and requirements for visitation and where to go upon arrival.
- o 6 feet of physical distance must be maintained during the visit.
- o Residents must wear a cloth face covering. Visitors must wear a face covering or mask for the duration of the visit.

Visitors: o Visitors must be limited to no more than two individuals per visit

- o The facility must screen the visitor for fever or respiratory symptoms. Any individuals with symptoms of COVID-19 infection¹ will not be permitted to visit.
- o Hand hygiene will be performed before and after the visit.
- o All visitors must remain at least 6 feet from the resident and any attending staff member(s) at all times during the visit.
- o Children must be supervised at all times, maintain social distancing, and wear a face covering when age appropriate
- . • Staff: o A staff member(s) trained in patient safety and infection prevention and control measures must be present to monitor the outdoor designated space(s).
- o Monitoring of visitation is required. Facility should assess the number of staff necessary to ensure appropriate masking and social distancing are followed.
- o Staff must wear a surgical face mask.

NEEDS YOUR HELP

During this critical time, VES is grateful to have a dedicated staff of caregivers who are going above and beyond and making personal sacrifices to ensure that the residents of the Calderwood Homestead remain healthy and safe during these scary times. We need each one of them to ensure adequate staffing at the Homestead.

However, there is currently one staff member who needs temporary housing on the island to continue working at the Homestead.

If you or anyone you know might have housing available for a few months over the summer, please let Linda Lynch know at 863-9343.
Thanks for your help.

Nor'easter

A Nor'easter is a low-pressure area that often passes just off New England. The intense winds rotate onto land from the Northeast, which means "The Sea". When you walk out of a nor'easter you won't be the same person who walked into it. That's how Nature's tempest impacts you.

Sitting on the porch I witnessed the ominous clouds gathering at the horizon, nature was in charge tonight. The portentous sky was advancing. The blustery wind is steady on my face as white caps build out to sea. In the distance, the surf battled the granite breakers. Normal safety measures had been set in motion, as all outdoor belongings were tied down or packed away. The ferry had stopped service and local fishing boats all found "safe harbour". I knew trees would fall, power might go out, flooding would occur, but it was exciting. At dusk, the storm hit the Island. Heavy rain and 60-knot winds made the house eerily shutter. A Father and his two sons decided to go for a walk. Why? Where? And how far was not discussed, It didn't matter Mom screamed from the bedroom "you guys are nuts". Without speaking, we grabbed our rain gear and walked a mile to town. I can't explain why we didn't speak to one another, usually, you can't shut us up. But none of us said a single word! We were together in stride but our thoughts were our own. Sheets of rain in squalls fought our every step. I loved every minute of it. The rain clouds soared across the Islands landscape, visibility was murky and ghostly. We plodded on towards town every so often we'd pass a home lit by candlelight. Two thoughts developed either a line is down or the town's electrical plant blew up. "Vinalhaven Light and Power" brought electrical energy to the Island in 1914. It had recently had two of its three generators breakdown and the Island was relying on "Old Faithful" a 500-kilowatt generator on loan from the Civil defense to power the community. The town had recently purchased this privately owned company and formed a co-op. The first president of the newly formed Fox Island Electric Cooperative was Grant Duell. Grant was quoted in a Bangor newspaper during this takeover, "We hired a mechanic from Portland to fix the two broken generators, but he didn't show. He'll get here." That is the way of life on Vinalhaven. So, for the last month, the company rationed energy. While half the Island had electricity the other half didn't, 6 hours on, 6 hours off. OH!!! And an article in the Wall Street Journal bestowed "Vinalhaven Light and Power" "the dubious distinction of being the worst Utility Company in the Country. You can't make this shit up!

We turned the corner at the big flagpole. Down into the heart of the town we trudged, all our senses heightened, nothing spoken. We passed a few streetlights that were on, the bands of rain shimmered in the light. We made our way past the roaring of the wind and the dull moan of the Island generator. It was said that at night you could hear the drone of the Electrical plant's generator throughout the Island. Oh, how history repeats itself, for that's the new complaint concerning the environmentally friendly windmills. As we passed the plant it reminded me of a junkyard. Massive parts were strewn all over haphazard, broken-down trailers and spools of cable littered the site. But "old faithful" was still moaning her generating song. We entered the ferry parking lot and made a U-turn heading back home. Breathing in the fresh, salty, cool, Maine air made me think how lucky I was Grandpa found this Haven. As we returned to the house a cry bellowed from Mom's bedroom, "Stop! Take your wet things off in the mudroom!" Why you went out in that mess, I'll never know". We shot a glance at one another; a slight smile grew on our faces. We knew!

Vinalhaven Cleaning Services is open for business!

At this time, we have decided that we do not feel comfortable flipping weekly rentals until things move in a different direction. We WILL, however, open houses for those coming to the island who plan on staying for the summer or for more than the 14-day quarantine. We will be more than happy to come back & clean for you again once you have satisfied the quarantine requirement. We will also be more than happy to clean for any local island residents and/or businesses. We are fully insured and can provide proof of insurance as requested.

We have all of our own cleaning supplies and equipment, facial coverings, gloves, foot coverings, ozone generators (more info on those as requested), etc and look forward to talking to each of you on your personal needs & requirements for your home or business!

Please be patient with us as we work out the kinks with our new venture in this new world we are navigating thru! We hope to be able to provide a wonderful service to everyone & to the community.

Reading Online Wind on a Kindle

Norbert Leser shared his steps for converting the online Wind into a more easily readable version on a Kindle.

1. Download the wind to your computer/device
2. Create an email message addressed to your Kindle account
3. Subject of the email is the word
"Convert"
4. Attach the wind PDF to the email
body (no other text)
5. Send email
6. After a short while open your Kindle app and synchronize - the Wind should appear in your library!

To find the Kindle email account mentioned above, you need to open the Kindle app and go to 'App Settings' in your menu at Kindle's home page. It lists 'Send to Kindle Email Address' - copy/paste that address and you're all set.

The Observer

I'm trying, with increasing desperation, to pretend I'm not seventy-five years old but that reality was driven home recently by a youngster who expressed surprise to learn that I was among the first generation of computer programmers half a century ago. So, I described those circumstances as he sat stunned to learn how the computer I sat in front of every day compared with his own, which he held in his hand. As we talked, I referred to a Subaru parked in the driveway. "That's the same size as my IBM 360," I observed, and that didn't include the mechanism for inputting data which was accomplished by employing a particular language (Cobol or Fortran) to formulate instructions which were then passed on to the night shift of immigrant ladies, who transcribed that coded data onto punch cards which were delivered to our desks so that when we came in the next morning we could take that orderly tray of cards to the room that housed three Magnetic Tape Units, each taller than me, to create a program. pc

Failure To Launch

Caitlin asked me to drive her to her weekly doctor's appointment in Augusta. Finest kind.

I was dropping her off afterwards at the ferry landing and I overheard two folks talking about their Ferry Failures.

The woman said she was 4th in line and didn't make it on. The man said he arrived once just missing the 1 o'clock boat, stayed with his car and moved it up to fifth in line for the last boat and didn't make it over.

Never being one not to chime in, I told them both that at least 15 maybe 20 years ago, I arrived early afternoon and moved my truck up to the first in place for the last boat. When they started to load that boat, all these cars kept coming around me full of families, one after another. They put the chain up over the entrance of the ramp and I jumped out of my truck and said what Cannot be printed. It was explained to me that these were workers for the DOT and they were allowed to get on any ferry, at any time and they were all going on vacation together. I went into the Ferry office and the woman behind the counter said she had never seen a vehicle first in line not get on. She assured me that I would make the 7 o'clock boat the next morning. I believe this is where the expression "missing the boat" came from. cc

PASSENGER FERRY

A group (Arcadia Alliance) is interested in providing high speed passenger ferry service to the islands of Penobscot Bay and is soliciting opinion from those who'd be affected - US. The boat would be of a composite material, not powered by diesel (probably electric or a hybrid), would make the trip in less than 45 minutes, would probably use the regular ferry slip and would not carry cars except, perhaps, an ambulance. If not an ambulance, then it would certainly have a medically suitable and protected on board facility for receiving and caring for a patient on a stretcher. The Town is represented in Arcadia and the group is very eager to hear from islanders. To register your own thoughts or opinions please contact Town Manager Andy Dorr or Phil Crossman.

Island Fireball

Green Flaming Mass Seen Over Vinalhaven Early Wednesday Evening

Several island residents observed a brilliant green ball of fire hurtling earthward at 8 p.m. Wednesday night. The circular-shaped object plummeted out of sight several seconds after it was first sighted directly overhead. One eye witness, Mrs. Olaf Holmquist, reported that the sudden appearance of the phenomena startled her as she walked along Granite Street, and seemed to be plunging directly toward her, then suddenly disappeared. There has been considerable conjecture as to the nature of the object.

Sea Horse at Vinalhaven Attracts Attention

While fishing recently, Leslie B. Dyer, Sr., made the unusual catch of a live sea horse, constituting the genius "hippocampus" so named from its head resembling a horse. It has a prehensile tail by which it clings to weeds and other supports. Swims in an upright position and measures six inches in length.

It is very common in the south, but, rarely found in northern waters. It is attracting much attention from callers at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Dyer, Atlantic Avenue.

Crane Buys Fifield Co.

The Fifield Co., Vinalhaven's largest store, has been acquired by Senter Crane Company of Rockland and will be operated under the name Senter Crane, Inc., along the lines of the local store. Improvements and redecorating start at once. New departments will be added to best serve Vinalhaven's needs, the patrons benefiting through the buying of the big store in Rockland. H. W. Fifield has conducted the store most successfully for several decades, retiring because of ill health. H. W. Fifield, Jr., goes to Portland to resume insurance business. The Fifield Co. succeeded Bodwell Granite Company in the large store which is located in the Masonic Building.

Island Hoops and Scratches

New book by Walt White

This sports book, written by Vinalhaven native Walt White, is full of treasured island memories dedicated to Vinalhaven basketball and pool players over the last 120 years. The book highlights the island's rich sports history and includes interesting facts and stories along with hundreds of photos. Walt presents a unique island narrative that he hopes will be historically educational yet fun to read for all island age groups as both sports are traced from their early origins to present times. Island Hoops and Scratches promises to be a family keepsake.

Please call or visit the Vinalhaven Historical Society to reserve copies. Limited books will be available starting September 24, so please order soon. Tel: 863-4410. Hours
Monday–Thursday
9 a.m.–3:30 p.m. Price: $40.00

Sometimes

Sometimes when I am tired
and all defenses are down
the light gets in and I am so grateful for a life without fear, without my concepts or my judging
or my need to control
as if the door was opened by someone who knows who carries love across
this threshold and delivers me to me.

Directions

1. If using dried beans, soak them in water overnight with a tbsp of baking soda or salt, then rinse the beans and simmer them in a pot of abundant water until tender.
2. Heat olive oil in a large frying pan. Add cleaned, cut leeks—the more the better. Fry until very tender. Mix leeks with warm canned beans or still-warm drained cooked beans. Add more olive oil and salt and pepper to taste. Serve at room temperature.
